On March 24, Interfaith of The Woodlands received its first Veggie Village grant for $500 from the organization Keep Montgomery County Beautiful. Veggie Village, a community donation garden, will provide fresh food, using organic and sustainable gardening practices, for the Interfaith Food Pantry and to provide gardening and educational opportunities to people of all ages. Pictured are Nancy Hathaway, Veggie Village Committee Member; Glenn Buckley, Secretary for Keep Montgomery County Beautiful; Dr. Ann Snyder, President and CEO of Interfaith of The Woodlands; and Kathy Rifaat, Director of Programs and Services at Interfaith of The Woodlands.
